

SEABRIDGE GOLD

Seabridge Gold is seeking a Field Manager for its Iskut Property to oversee closure and reclamation activities at the closed Johnny Mountain Mine site (JMM) for the 2021 field season (March – October). The work site ranges from approximately 100m to 1,400m elevation, and is located at a remote exploration camp 60 km from Stewart, BC. ATV use is required on the project site, and the work rotation will be 3 weeks on site followed by 1 week off site. Overlap with cross-shift replacement will be required.

With a focus on health and safety, the Field Manager will plan, direct and monitor field execution plans for JMM closure project - this includes coordinating multiple contractors, consultants and equipment operators performing various daily technical tasks. You will lead safety initiatives, periodic inspections and evaluate contractor performance on safety. The ideal candidate will possess strong organizational and communication skills and be able to prioritize complex schedules while maintaining progress toward annual goals. The candidate must have the skill required to author weekly summary reports to level appropriate for internal submission.

Education and Experience:

- Bachelors degree or equivalent education and experience preferred
 - Minimum 10 years' experience in mining
 - Experience in project management
 - Experience leading multidisciplinary teams
 - Experience directing earthwork moving equipment activity
- Ability to work in a remote setting and in an exploration camp environment
 - Experience managing field execution projects including earthworks construction and maintenance, drilling and hazardous waste management
 - Experience managing engineering, project controls and environmental disciplines
 - Experience using basic Microsoft ® software, including Projects
 - Demonstrated safety philosophy and safe work practices;
- Valid BC driver's license with no infractions over last 5 years; and
 - Experience working in Northern British Columbia
